

STING OPERATION

The Buzz Squad is alerted about another operation they need to execute immediately. After the huge success of solving Bee Hive Hijack, the squad is set to raid a local florist who is selling weird flowers that is killing bees and butterflies.

The Bee Squad was finally successful in catching the florist, making him confess that he was involved in the International Fake Flower Racket, importing fake flowers.

Bees and butterflies are attracted to real flowers for food, but plastic flowers can't provide nectar or pollen. As real flowers disappear, these important pollinators lose a vital source of food. And when they lose their food, we risk losing ours too, because pollination is vital for food production!

Copyright © 2026 by Charcoal-the studio. All rights reserved.
All content, illustrations, design and concept used in the calendar are subject to copyright.

Read More Stories

Back

